NEODYSSEY

When a vision from the past meets the future

Influenced by Optic Art and Post-Internet aesthetic, DEMSKY J. is known for a work that explores the graphic universe from the interface of technological devices of the end of the 1980s.

DEMSKY J.'s art stands for its unbounded energy. For a couple of years, he has been building a multicolored body of work with retro-futuristic hints: a galaxy of pure colors, an access to unknown emotions, between nostalgia of the past and futuristic vision.

NEODISSEY is a new retrospective show of his work around the affinities between the physical and the digital world. The artist questions their impact on society through the ambiguous relationship of fascination/repulsion for new technologies.

Constantly looking to push his experiment with painting and his research on space and movement further -two fundamental dimensions of his work-, thanks to an original point of view and a perfect mastery of spray paint, DEMSKY J. creates more and more abstract compositions and labyrinthine variations that play with visual perceptions.

His geometric distortions induced by optical effects give life to a vibrant work that disrupts the modalities of our perception of art.

DEMSKY J. - HANDCRAFTED WOOL TAPESTRY

Handmade wool tapestries created in Oaxaca, Mexico in the purest tradition of Mexican craftsmanship by a native Mexican family with the finest organic materials from part of the region. Family run weaving business where for generations they have followed the same techniques for dyeing, spinning and weaving traditional designs. All their methods are natural and ecologically based including the gathering of local plants and seeds to obtain dyes to produce the various colours of Demsky's design.

DEMSKY J.

Elche (Espagne), 1979

From the day he fell into the graffiti world in the early 90's. Dems has not ceased in destroying and rebuilding the alphabet from every angle. Crossing the entire world, jumping between hemispheres and continents, seeking for a new dimensions.

His style sounds like a Jupiter 8, the legendary fluor era synthesizer. Visually recognizable at first sight, his work captures the whole essence of Arcades and Sci-Fi saturated films, inspired by blue laser and red neon. With a single stroke, he can incarnate the water resist calculator-watch Casio precision or the Japanium force, resulting in a direct although subtle blow to the good-taste conventional laws.

His elegant compositions devour space and make you travel to a totally unknown, but such familiar world that we could enter it, before watching the space and time fold, creating a timeless loop, right there, between the D and the S.
